AI-Powered Comprehensive API Security Platform

PIsentry helps organizations audit, monitor, and detect possible API attacks even before they occur. By offering a unified API security solution, it effectively bridges the existing security gaps inherent in employing multiple tools, all while reducing substantial costs for businesses

Overview

APIsentry is an advanced API security platform specially designed to meet the stringent security requirements of banking institutions. This solution leverages the power of artificial intelligence (AI) to deliver robust protection for your APIs. With a unified solution and advanced threat detection,

APIsentry offers complete security, ensuring your digital assets are safeguarded against evolving cyber threats.

Features

WAF

Our AI-driven WAF provides real-time protection against a wide range of threats, including new and uncommon attacks. Unlike traditional WAF solutions,

API Monitoring

Gain dynamic insights into your API traffic. APIsentry offers detailed logs of incoming requests, providing information about source data, location, threat level, status codes, and more

Features Cont'd

Source Code Review

APIsentry conducts an in-depth analysis of your source code to identify vulnerabilities, quality, and compliance issues.
Software Component Analysis

APIsentry monitors and alerts you about your third-party integrations and dependencies

Vulnerability Scans

Unlike traditional vulnerability scanners that often rely on static databases, APIsentry utilizes machine learning and real-time threat intelligence to detect evolving vulnerabilities

Automated Pentesting

APISentry's automated penetration testing capabilities check for anomalies, irregularities, and patterns indicative of potential security issues on each of your API routes
